Project Title	Stay Ahead of the Next Hot Thing in Technological Innovation for Diplomats!
Project Summary	Use your research skills to disseminate a regular summary of press articles related to technological innovation. Help us follow technology trends that could be translated into real-world uses for U.S. diplomats.
Country	United States

Project Description

The Office of eDiplomacy needs to keep abreast of the latest trends in communication and collaborative technologies. We are seeking an intern who can curate a selection of relevant articles and press clips that describe innovations and trends that could be utilized in diplomatic work. This would be an ideal project for an intern who is fascinated by technology and also has an interest in foreign affairs.
